DIVE COMPUTER

Easy to see, simple to use and now more powerful

The Cobalt 2 is an extraordinary dive computer combining ease of use, readability, intuitiveness; and now with a more powerful microprocessor. The next-generation microprocessor results in a noticeable difference in speed when using the menu display and especially data intensive applications like the compass, improving response and accuracy. The software has also been upgraded with improved features. All these great upgrades, while retaining features from the Cobalt such as a menu driven display that can be mastered in minutes and a rechargeable lithium ion battery that gives divers between 40 and 60 hours of dive time, make this next generation Cobalt 2 a truly revolutionary dive computer.

Standard top covers are black, optional colours are available.

Cobalt 2 includes Cobalt Computer case.

Cobalt Computer Case

This form-fitting hard case is molded from ballistic nylon, which fits the Cobalt dive computer like a glove and includes two zippers allowing the case to open up flat. Designed to fit with or without the high pressure hose, it makes a rugged lightweight travel case to protect your computer when not in use.

- Custom-molded ballistic nylon with soft inner lining.
- Non corrosive plastic coil zippers.
- Fits attached or disconnected from your high pressure hose.

ZEAGLE BUOYANCY COMPENSATORS

When we pioneered the first weight integrated BC, it wasn't pretty. My, how times have changed.

When we began building weight integrated buoyancy in the early 80s, they were dismissed by all the major equipment manufacturers. But divers loved them, forcing the industry to take another look. Today integrated weight systems represent the majority of buoyancy systems sold and we continue to pursue different ideas and innovative ways to deliver a better diving experience.

ATOMIC SPLITFINS
Aerodynamic... Hydrodynamic... Atomic SplitFins are simply dynamic

Split fins come in a variety of shapes, sizes and stiffness which contribute greatly to overall comfort and performance. A fin with short, soft blades will kick easier than a longer, stiffer one, but will require many more kicks to travel the same distance. A blade that is too stiff will require too much effort to kick comfortably. The Atomic SplitFins were specifically designed to optimize all these variables. They are easy kicking fins that deliver high thrust, speed, and efficiency with a comfortable, low frequency kick cycle.

ATOMIC SNORKELS

Who knew snorkels needed a total makeover? ... Atomic Aquatics did.

In line with releasing only products that define a category the SV series meets a divers/snorkelers needs.

SV – Scupper Valve – one way silicone flap keeps drains water from the mouthpiece keeping it clear even before it exits through the traditional purge valve.

SV – Small and Versatile – streamlined but performance orientated with good air transfer. No longer is the snorkel a bulky piece of kit many divers would prefer to leave behind!

SV – Sleek and Valuable – you will want to show off and use these snorkels on and between dives. They are as attractive as they are functional.
